A set of maps showing the lots of the Cleveland. Waring and Thorne estates at Yonkers, which are to be sold at the Real Estate Exchange on Tuesday, have been issued. The properties consist of about 200 well-situated building lots in various parts of the city, fine dwellings, and the home of William H.

Alfred Johnson, alias White, a young man employed in the store of G. R. Gibson, at No. 10 Barclay-st. was arrested yesterday for passing a forged check for $50 at F. C. Geiger's store, No. 218 Greenwich st., two weeks ago. The signature of Mr. Gibson had been forged on the check. Yesterday Johnson went into Ditman's drug-store in the Astor House and tried to pass another forged check for $30. Mr. Ditma called in Policeman Finn, of the Broadway squad, who arrested Johnson.

Mrs. Kate Harper, wife of William A. Harper, of the publishing firm of Harper & Brothers, and daugh-ter of Colonel H. B. Beecher, son of Henry Ward Reecher, died suddenly at Yonkers on Friday ing. Mrs, Harper went to Yonkers a few days ago to spend the summer with her father. Early on Fri day morning she complained of toothache, which had day morning she complained of toothache, which had troubled her for some time. Colonel Feecher sent for Dr. Underhill, a dentist, and Dr. Phillips, his family physician, to relieve her of the pain. As Mrs. Harper insisted upon using chloroform, the doctors used the drug. The filling was then taken from the tooth and the pain stopped. Soon after reviving, however, Mrs. Harper had a fit of vomiting. Suddenly she dropped back upon the sofa where she was sitting, and died in a short time. It is supposed that she ruptured a blood-vessel of the heart. As soon as Dr. Phillips saw that Mrs. Harper was unconscious, he called in Drs. Hermance, Sherman and Moffat, but when they arrived they found the young woman dead. Her husband had gone to busi proung woman dead. Her husband had gone to business as usual, receiving a telegram about 11 o'clock regarding Mrs. Harper's illness. Although he took the first train to Yonkers, he came too late to find her alive. Her mother was in New-York at the time preparing to sall for Europe on one of the steamers which left this port yesterday.

Mrs. Harper, who was about twenty-four years old, was the eldest child of Colonel Beecher, and was a great favorite of her grandfather during his life time. She was married to Mr. Harper about one years ago, and leaves a child two months old. The members of the family are prostrated by her sudden death. Mrs. Harper lived at the leigrave apartment-house. STUDENTS TO GIVE A PLAY IN LATIN.

A COMEDY OF PLAUTUS WITH HISTORICALLY CORRECT SCENES AND DRESSES. The students of the College of St. Francis Xavier

will present a Latin play next week and perhaps no better brief account of it can be given than the one on the ticket. The ticket is printed in Latin and the following is a translation of it:

following is a translation of it:

Good Omens of Success.

The play entitled "The Two Captives," written by T. Maccius Plantus, the poet, will be performed in the theatre of the College of St. Francis Navier, in New York City, by the students of that institution, under the direction of the professor of retoric; in the Latin tongue, on the ides of May (the 15th), and in English on the eleventh day before the kalends of June (May 22). The chief role will be taken by Frederick Reilly, student in rhetoric; the music will be prepared by Rene Holand, of the Society of Jesus, with the aid of modern instrumentation. The curtain will rise at 8 o'clock in the evening. Admission $1.

There is also what is called a "Patron's Ticket," There is also what is called a "Patron's Ticket," of which a literal translation is as follows: I am a patron's ticket. Whoever receives me will be permitted to sit in the fourteen rows. See that I be retained, therefore, until the usher shall have assigned you a seat.

It is said that every care will be taken to make the production historically correct. The scenery has been gade under the direction of Augustin Daly and the costumes by the costumer of Daly's Theatre. Tickets are for sale at Brentano's and at the college parlors, No. 30 West Sixteenth-st.

MR. GOODE'S ATTACK CAUSES SURPRISE.

The attack by City Marshal Goode on the District-Attorney's office, at a meeting on Friday night, created surprise among the District-Attorney's as-Mr. Fellows himself said that the intimation that money had been paid to prevent the further prosecution of Gustave Simon was nonsense. He said that Mr. Goff, who prosecuted the case, had done well on the trial, but he could not control the verdict of the jury. Two of the jurors were for acquittal.

Assistant District-Attorney Goff said that the case had not been retried yet, because Goode wished Mr. had not been retried yet, because toods wished Mr.
Goff to conduct the presecution, and there had been no opportunity, on account of the pressure of the Flack and other important cases. Every one who watched the prosecution of Simon's case at the trial agreed that Mr. Goff had labored with the greatest earnestness and fervor to obtain a conviction. Mr. Goff said that the case would be retried.

MANY BENEFITS IN ONE DAY.

Arrangements are going on rapidly for the benefit to be given at several theatres on the afternoon of May 22 for the Post Graduate Hospital. The pro-ceeds are to be used, as already announced, for the bables' wards and beds for the Actors' Fund. The programme, as far as made out, is as follows: At Palmer's Theatre, Louis Aldrich in "The Editor; at the Madison Square Theatre, Richard Mansfield, probably in "A Parisian Romance"; at the Star Theatre Louis Morrison and M. B. Curtis, in "The Schadchen"; at the Broadway Theatre, De Wolf Hopper and his company in his new opera, "Castles in the Air"; at
